Subject: Il postino -- New Film Study Text

EF Film Study Program: Il postino is now available from Edizioni Farinelli.

The classic, award-winning Il postino now has an in-depth film study guide available. The new workbook was written by Patrizia La Trecchia, Assistant Professor of Italian Studies at the University of South Florida. Millicent Marcus, Professor and Chair of the Department of Italian Languages and Literatures at Yale University says of the new text, "Patrizia La Trecchia's intelligently conceived and well designed text realizes the full potential of film for language pedagogy. Il postino is an especially good choice: It engages themes of the utmost interest--romantic passion, political activism, poetic creativity--while lending itself to La Trecchia's expert agenda for language instruction, involving vocabulary expansion, grammar review, practice in composition and reading comprehension. This text will be a great boon to the Italian instructor looking for rigorous and carefully structured ways to incorporate film into the language classroom."

The 60-page text is geared toward intermediate-level students. It covers seven sequences of the film and includes readings and class discussion exercises.

The Il postino film study text is $32.95. The DVD for the film is available separately for $29.95.

The EF Film Study series is a new systematic approach to learning Italian through focused viewing of classic and contemporary Italian films. This series helps university and high school teachers keep their curriculum fresh and interesting. In addition to this new film study text, Edizioni Farinelli also offers texts and DVDs for Caterina va in città, Ciao Professore, Cinema Paradiso, Cristo si e' fermato a Eboli, Giorni e nuvole, Io non ho paura, La meglio gioventù, L'ultimo bacio, La vita e' bella, Pane e tulipani, Pinocchio and Ricordati di me.
